

INTERNATIONAL MASTER'S DEGREES

FINANCIAL MATTERS

1. TUITION FEES
2. FINANCIAL SUPPORTS
3. FINDING OTHER SOURCES OF FUNDING
4. COST OF LIVING IN FRANCE

1. TUITION FEES

Fees for the whole duration of the program (15 months) are:

- 3 300€ for EU/Erasmus zone students (EU countries + Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Turkey)
- 11 000€ for non EU students

A deposit of 1000€ is to be paid before arrival to confirm admission.

Graduates from EURECOM's partner universities may benefit from a partial tuition fee waiver.
List of EURECOM's partner universities. Contact admission@eurecom.fr for more information.

At the student's request, payment in several installments is possible following EURECOM's Regulations.

2. FINANCIAL SUPPORT

- INTERNSHIPS

The third semester of the program is a 6-MONTH PAID INTERNSHIP in a company or research lab based in France or abroad. Students receive a monthly financial allowance enabling them to cover a substantial part of their costs.

- PART TIME JOBS:

Even if foreign students are allowed to work part time in France, it is not advised to rely on such jobs to finance studies.

It is quite hard to find such jobs without a good grasp of French language and second the workload of the Master's program is so demanding that working part-time can seriously entail the success of the studies.

IMPORTANT NOTICES

- Students should make sure their application is complete when applying to a scholarship. Incomplete files cannot be considered by the scholarship commissions.
- Students need to be aware that the number of partial tuition fee waivers and scholarships is limited and that the number of applicants is high. Students should also consider other sources of funding for their future studies in case the scholarship cannot be granted (scholarship from their home state, loans...)
- The scholarship receiver must confirm the offer by accepting the offered study within two weeks of the scholarship notification. Without any confirmation, the scholarship will be granted to other students on the waiting list.
- The scholarships (Labex and Fondation Télécom) and the partial tuition fee waivers are granted by different Commissions, it means that you may apply to several grants at the same time, but it does not mean you can receive them together.
- The Labex and Fondation Télécom scholarships cannot be cumulated.

3. FINDING OTHER SOURCES OF FUNDING

French embassies, foreign governments and international institutions may also provide scholarships, for more information, please refer to the following search engine to find financing opportunities:
